ABOUT THE DEGREE

Businesses work with laws every day, for example in proposals, tenders and contracts. Knowledge of business law can give you the ability to recognise potential issues and manage legal risk. This degree is primarily aimed at preparing graduates to take up employment in the legal department or in the general administration of firms.

The course covers topics like Contract Law, Company Law, Intellectual Property Law, Real property, Torts, Trusts, Competition Legislation, and Employment Law. As such, this degree does not cover criminal law and does not directly lead to a professional legal qualification allowing you to become a law practitioner.

In terms of elective units, you can choose from a variety of business units such as finance, management, marketing etc.
